58 (B) Case Records.

59 (B)(1) Objectives. The objective of the records retention schedule is to maintain 60 convenient access to the documents of the case and to the case history as necessary to 61 the activity in the case. Even in a case in which judgment has been entered there may 62 be substantial activity. In criminal cases, the court can expect affidavits alleging violations of probation and petitions for post conviction relief. In civil cases, the court can expect to issue writs, orders supplemental to the judgment and to conduct other proceedings to collect the judgment. In divorce cases, the court can expect petitions to modify the decree or to enforce visitation and support. This may mean more immediate access in particular cases. The objective of the records retention schedule is to guide the transfer of permanent records to off-site storage and the destruction on non-permanent records.

(B)(2) Storage medium. The decisions of what storage medium to use and when to use it are left to local discretion, needs and resources of the clerk of the court.

With proper training or by the Division of State Archives the clerk of the court may microfilm records. Given the sensitive nature of identifying information contained in court records, such as name, address, telephone number, and social security number of parties, witnesses and jurors, microfilming of court records by Utah Correctional Industries is prohibited. All microfilming shall be in accordance with the standards adopted by the Division. All microfilm developing and quality assurance checks shall be done by the Division. The Division of State Archives shall keep the original film and return a copy to the court.

The clerk of the court may scan documents to a digital image based on local needs and resources. Once scanned to a digital image, the document may be destroyed. Electronic documents may be printed and maintained in the case file.

(B)(3) Storage location. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall maintain all computer records. The clerk of the court shall store on site pending cases, closed cases with significant post judgment activity, and cases with a retention period of less than permanent.

The clerk of the court shall not store case files with significant activity off-site. Records in which there is an order of alimony or child support, visitation or custody shall not be stored off-site until at least three years has expired from the date of the last activity in the case. Within these parameters, the decision to store permanent records on-site or off-site is left to local discretion, needs and resources. The state court records officer and the Division of State Archives may evaluate exceptions for courthouses with critically short storage problems. Records stored off-site shall be prepared in

94 accordance with standards and instructions of the Division of State Archives. If a record
95 stored off-site is needed at the courthouse, the record will be returned to the court for 96 the duration of the need. The clerk of the court shall not return a record in which there is 97 an order of alimony or child support, visitation or custody to off-site storage until at least 98 three years after the last activity in the case.
